CITY COUNCIL IN A BUSY SESSION

Will Incorporate Section of Land
Outside North Corporation Line.

RECEIVE SCHOOL BOND BIDS

City Taxes Will be Collected by City
Treasurer Account Interpretation of New Law.

Many things came up before the city council in regular session last night and they had one of the busiest meetings of the year. One of the most important things accomplished was the final decision that a portion of the land north of the city will be taken into the city. The city attorney was instructed to take the proper steps toward incorporation and the affair will be completed within the next few weeks. The new section will include the ground from the L. E. & W. railroad to the city corporation line on the east. It is not determined how far north the new section will run until it has been surveyed. The proposed addition will include the lots which were sold in that part of the city last year. The council deemed this step necessary in view of the fact that this is the most desirable portion of the city in which to build.

Beginning next year the city taxes will be collected in the city treasurer's office by the city official instead of by the county treasurer as heretofore has been the case. This change was made on account of the interpretation of the new law, which was passed at the recent session of the legislature.

The city clerk was ordered to advertise for bids for the construction of the sidewalks in East Tenth street. The residents of East Ninth street filed a petition with the council last night for a similar improvement on their street. The petition was referred to the council committee on street and alley improvements and after the necessary investigation by them, a report will be made.

The school board received bids on the school bonds last night and the following bids were submitted: Marion Trust Company of Indianapolis, $360 premium; Rush County National Bank, $355; Campbell & Company of Indianapolis $82; and the Peoples Loan & Trust Company, $50. The Indianapolis firm made the highest offer and were the successful bidders. It will be noticed that the next highest bidder was a Rushville bank and that they were only $5 below the successful ones. The bids were ratified by the council last night. The bonds amounted to $22,000.

COSTLY BLAZE AT HOMER

Fire of Unknown Origin Plays Havoc
Monday Night.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a store room and contents in Homer Monday night, says the Shelbyville Republican. The store room also contained the postoffice and it was moved to a room in the I. O. O. F. building nearby. The building was owned by Indianapolis parties. The loss is estimated at about $7000.

WEATHERMAN PLAYS HAVOC WITH PLANS

Fourth of July Celebration at Manila
Was Postponed Until Saturday Night.

NO RAIN CHECKS WERE ISSUED

Owing to the inclement weather, "Mayor" Leonidas H. Mull did not give his big fireworks display in Manila Monday night, says the Shelbyville Republican, but he has decided to give the big exhibition next Saturday night. The same invitation that was sent out for the display that was to have been Monday night holds good for the affair Saturday night as no rain checks were issued.

It is also the intention to have several athletic contests during the day and a large crowd is expected to attend. Only part of the program was carried out Monday. Manila defeated Arlington at basket ball by a score of 35 to 5. The same teams will play again next Saturday and a double header base ball game is another feature of the program. His Honor, Mr. Mull, is very sorry that the weather was not favorable for the display Monday night and he sincerely hopes that J. Pluvius will see his way clear to have the mists cleared away Saturday night.

BARD OF SHELBY TO READS POEMS

Alonzo Rice Has Agreed to Appear on "Indiana Day" at the Local Chautauqua.

WILL GIVE "COME GO HOME"

Alonzo Rice, of Union township, Shelby's poetical bard, will be one of the celebrities participating on Indiana Day at the Rushville chautauqua August 11, says the Shelbyville News. James Whitcomb Riley, Kin Hubbard, Charles Major, James Parker, and others who have been invited to appear.

"Come Go Home," from Mr. Rice's own pen, will be read by him. The poem is especially suited to an Indiana Day.

Mr. Rice recently had four poems accepted by The Pathfinder, a monthly pamphlet from the University Press of Sewanee, Tenn. Mr. Rice is doing biographic work for the Indiana Teachers' Journal.

The following is a rare gem by Mr. Rice:

"Six days 'twas said, creation, occupied."

The poet mused. He saw a rose-bud furled,

And others parting in their crimson pride,

And wondered, "Is it yet a finished world?"

Rushville is going to boom.

JUDGE HENLEY STILL GOING UP

Selected as Director of One of the Nation's Most Gigantic Financial Alliances.

PET SCHEME OF J. O. ARMOUR

Realized When Some of the Biggest Interests in the West Are United.

W. J. Henley, formerly a lawyer of Rushville, and later judge of the Appellate court—and always a good fellow—was one of the prominent figures in a powerful financial alliance made in Chicago last week. The Continental National bank and the American Trust and Savings Co.—Mr. Henley a director in the last named—have been amalgamated. The two institutions have combined deposits of over one hundred million dollars and they now boast of the strongest financial institution outside of the largest in the world.

The scheme has long been the dream of J. Ogden Armour, a "wealthy" millionaire. The personnel of directors was changed somewhat but among those who were chosen for the new board of directors was "Our Will" Henley.

The Chicago Tribune contains a two column article on the alliance.

The following excerpt from that paper gives a partial list of the directors and what their names mean in the financial world:

"Associated with Mr. Weyerhaeuser on the directorate of the Continental bank is J. Ogden Armour, president of the great packing firm founded by the late Philip D. Armour, and which still bears the Armour name. Mr. Armour is recognized as the dominating factor in the affairs of the bank.

Edward Hines, an owner of vast timber lands, is also a director and closely allied with Mr. Weyerhaeuser. These men, with John C. Black, chairman of the board of directors; A. J. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad; Frank Hibbard, W. C. Seipp and Henry Botsford, constitute a coterie of immense financial power.

Coupled with these extensive packing and timber interests is a community of steel and railroad influence represented on the directorate of the American Trust and Savings bank.

E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States

GIVE UP FIGHT IN STREET PAVING CASE

City Attorney of Anderson Has Dismissed Complaint Against Board of Commissioners.

A TIP FOR LOCAL OPPONENTS

City Attorney Ryan of Anderson, has dismissed the complaint against the county board of commissioners restraining it from paving streets there under the Three Mile Road law. The city attorney was of the opinion, after due investigation, that he was fighting a hopeless case and that the higher courts could do nothing other than order the improvements to proceed.

About 10,000 tourists visited Cuba during the last winter season to March 1.

AGED PIONEER ANSWERED CALL

William Moffett, Father of Mrs. O. C.
Norris, of this City, Died at Longwood.

WAS WIDELY KNOWN CITIZEN.

Formerly Conducted General Store at Glenwood—Has Been Postmaster for Years.

William C. Moffett, of Longwood, died Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock. Mr. Moffett has been ailing for the past two years, but has only been bedfast since Sunday and his decline has been very rapid since then.

The deceased was seventy-four years of age. He was born within a half a mile of the place where his death occurred and was one of the oldest and best known citizens of the vicinity in which he lived.

Besides the widow who before her marriage was Miss Nancy Kipder, there are eight children surviving, Mrs. Oliver Norris of Rushville, Albert C. Moffett and Miss Eunice Moffett of Connersville, Mrs. William Leggett, of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. William Elsbury, of Greenfield, William H. and Earl Moffett of Indianapolis, and Arthur E. Moffett of Harrisburg. One son died in infancy.

The remains were taken to the home of Mrs. Nancy Moffett, in Connersville yesterday.

The funeral services were conducted at Wiley Chapel this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In his early life Mr. Moffett was a farmer. For a time he was proprietor of a general store in Glenwood and still later became postmaster at Longwood, which position he held as long as the office was maintained in that place, a period of more than twenty years. He had charge of the station at Longwood, a position which, like all his other occupations he discharged not merely with credit but with unusual ability.

TO APPOINT NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Dr. E. B. Rawls, of This District,
Steps Out at End of Conference Year.

AND TAKE PREACHING CHARGE

Dr. E. B. Rawls, who has served the district in which Rushville is located for the past six years in the capacity of superintendent of the M. E. church, will have served his time at the close of this conference year.

It is a law of the church that one can serve only six years as superintendent. They are at liberty to take charge and preach. After doing this they can hold the office of District superintendent again if they so desire and are appointed as such.

Dr. Rawls is a man with a fine intellect, and is a power among his people. During his work in this district he has won a host of friends out of the church and in the church who are sorry he has to leave them.

Dr. Rawls is a pleasing and entertaining speaker, getting down to his topics on a clear, plain and practical basis.

His many friends wish him unbounded success in his new field of labor wherever it may chance to be.

Rushville is going to boom.

MANY NEW STORE ROOMS

Built and occupied in New Castle
During Past Two Years.

More than twenty new business rooms have been built in New Castle the past two years, says the New Castle Times. All of them are substantial brick buildings and of good size. This number does not include any frame structures, repair work, new fronts, etc. Most of them have been erected on vacant ground, so that each room represented an increase in the number of mercantile establishments. This does not take into account the offices, shops and smaller businesses on second and third floors. With all this increase there are no vacant store rooms in town and there are numerous persons trying to rent business rooms in good locations.

GIANT DOES THE WORK OF TWO MEN

Ruch County Farmer Shocked Thirty-Five Acres of Wheat in Two Days.

YOUNG DRAWS DOUBLE WAGES

Here's a record of a man doing the work of two men, and can do it every day in the year and has the money in his wallet to back him up, anybody who wants to speculate. He is almost a giant in physique—nearly six feet, six inches in height and lives in Rush county. The modern Hercules is one in the person of B. F. Young living in Richland township and is at present drawing two mens wages. His banner task of hard toil and hard cash was for two days last week when, he states thus:

"I followed the binder for two days on the farm of the late J. W. Stewart, near Richland, shocked every speare of thirty-five acres that was cut with no help excepting a brown water jug that I carried with me. I'll back my assertions up with money if anyone doubts these statements."

HEAVY RAINS ARE DAMAGING CROPS

Farmers Are Idle and Much Hay
Which Had Been Cut and Also Wheat is Ruined.

OATS HAS FALLEN TO GROUND

Farmers of the county are idle because of the heavy rainfalls of the last few nights and days. They were in the midst of the wheat and hay harvest and as a result a great many acres of timothy and clover hay which had been cut, are damaged. The oats in many sections has fallen to the ground, the straw being weakened by the soaking rains.

Much of the wheat is in the shock, and it is all soaked. The shocks will have to be uncapped and then allowed to dry in order to prevent the grain sprouting. There is much over-ripe wheat in the fields that will have to stand too long because the ground is too soft for the heavy reapers to run.

Miss Grace Mauzy entertained a number of guests last night at her home in North Main street in honor of her guest, Miss Celia Spiegel of Shelbyville.

RUSHVILLE GOING WIRELESS MAD

Two Wireless Telegraph Stations
Completed and Two Others
Being Erected.

WILL "AIR" FAMILY TROUBLES

Donald Sparks' Station Has Proven
Successful—Boys Will Establish Circuit.

While the residents of other cities are going automobile mad, the people of Rushville along with the automobile are going crazy over wireless telegraphy. Already two different stations have been completed and two others are now being erected. If the craze increases in the next few months as it has in the last, few people will be able to sleep at night on account of the crack of the wireless messages, as they pass over their houses through their bedrooms, or they may come through the windows and before your very eyes.

Donald Sparks, the fourteen-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Sparks has erected a station back of his home in North Main street, with which he expects to take and receive wireless communication in the near future. In fact he has already found it to be successful and is very much elated over his invention. The apparatus consists of a pole forty-eight feet high with cross bars on top on which are three wires connected to the little office below. In the building below, at the end of the wires fastened to the top of the pole, are the instruments which do the work.

An attempt was made the other day to see if the invention would be successful. A receiving station was arranged on top of the house seventy-five feet distant from the pole. Then a message was sent from the small office in the back yard and was received perfectly on the top of the house. The boys say that distance has no effect on the message, only in case they are sent too far there is danger of them dying down. But no further than the young inventors expect to send their messages, distance will have no effect on them.

Two other boys, George Urbach and Russell Kirkpatrick, are now erecting stations and expect to have them completed before the summer passes. When they have completed their stations, the three boys expect to establish a circuit and be in communication with each other. When their dreams have been realized, they will no longer telephone their boy friends, but will simply send them a wireless communication which cannot be intercepted and which no one can hear.

Earl White, an employe of the City Water and Light Plant, has also erected a station and is now trying to get in communication with his brother at Columbus, Indiana, who also has a wireless station and is employed in the same capacity there as his brother is here. He has great hopes of saving stamp bills and then the family affairs will be "aired," but not in the sense of the word that it is generally taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Readle entertained yesterday at a six o'clock dinner the following out-of-town guests: Mrs. C. A. Dugle of Rising Sun, Mrs. Clyde Peasley of Aurora and Miss Ruth Straisinger of Greensburg.

TARIFF BILL ON HOME STRETCH

Measure Completed in Committee of the Whole.

NEARING CONFERENCE STAGE

While the Dingley Bill Was in Conference For Three Weeks, It is Predicted That Conferees Will Dispose of the Present Measure in Less Than a Week—The Tobacco Tax Schedule Was Only Amendment Not Adopted in the Committee of the Whole—Senators Take a Breathing Spell.

Washington, July 7.—Completing the tariff bill in the committee of the whole, that measure was reported to the senate, so that legislation providing for customs duties is now regarded as on the home stretch.

Senators generally desiring to obtain a reprint of the bill as amended before further considering it, the senate adjourned to afford senators an opportunity to look over it before taking further action. The adjournment was taken with the understanding that when the body reconvenes all sections of the bill that senators do not desire to reserve for further amendment shall be agreed to en bloc.

The senate then will consider the tobacco tax, the only amendment not adopted in the committee of the whole. When that is disposed of senators will offer and votes will be taken on numerous amendments they have reserved to be acted upon when the bill, in a parliamentary sense, shall be in the senate.

That the conferees on the tariff bill will conclude their work in less than a week, probably within three days, is said to have been a prediction that President Taft made before he left Washington Saturday. The Dingley bill was in conference about three weeks. It is known that the members of the house who are likely to be selected as conferees have been studying the schedules amended by the senate, the corporation tax and the other subjects that will come up for consideration in conference, but it had been supposed that the differences of opinion on various schedules would prevent an early agreement on the bill in conference.

WOMEN DRAW COLOR LINE

New Waitresses in Soldiers' Home Object to Serving Negroes.

Danville, Ill., July 7.—Will members of the national board of managers of the soldiers' homes throughout the country be forced to change back from women waiters to old soldiers on account of the women drawing the color line? Such is the question worrying authorities at the Danville home at present. Despite the fact that they have been on duty only since July 1, it is understood that the young women have asserted that they will draw the color line when it comes to waiting on the negro soldiers. In that event it may be that the national board of managers will change back from the women to the old soldiers who were displaced in all of the homes on July 1.

Owing to their advanced age, it was thought best by the managers to displace the old soldiers. It was decided to place young women in their places. Accordingly this was done, wives and daughters of soldiers receiving the preference in the giving of places.

Entered Voluntary Pleas of Guilty. Marshall, Ill., July 7.—After pleading not guilty to twenty-six indictments each and standing a trial in which the jury disagreed, Eddie Mount and Al Millard voluntarily went before the court and entered pleas of guilty. They were fined $2,600 with a sixty-day jail sentence. The charges were running a gambling house and selling liquor under the guise of a social club.

The President at Plattsburg. Plattsburg, N. Y., July 7.—The scene of the Lake Champlain celebration shifted today to Plattsburg. President Taft again made a brief address and Senator Elihu Root delivered the historical oration of the celebration. The Indian pageant was repeated last night at Ticonderoga. The president will not see this pageant until he arrives at Burlington tomorrow.

Six-Mile Tunnel Opened. Montrose, Col., July 7.—The last round of shots in the east heading of the Gunnison irrigation tunnel was fired at 5:30 o'clock last evening. A few minutes later the workmen from the two headings shook hands through the opening. The tunnel is six miles long and has been four and a half years under construction.

KNEW NOTHING ABOUT IT

Tom Taggart Declares His Ignorance of Gingles Case

Syracuse, N. Y., July 7.—Thomas Taggart was a passenger on the Southwestern Limited. When shown the press story of the trial of Ella Gingles at Chicago, in which his name had been brought out in evidence, he said: "I never saw, never knew or never heard Miss Gingle's name until the same appeared in this case, and have since never seen her. The only person I ever saw or knew who has been in any way involved in this case is Miss Barrette, who kept a curio stand at French Lick. I never met her but in a business way. I have been down east for some time and have heard nothing of this case until today. I know nothing more of it than what I have read today."

THOSE UNCONCERNED WRIGHT BROTHERS

Army Officers Can't Get Used to Their Ways.

Washington, July 7.—The signal corps officers concerned in the aeroplane trials are beginning to exhibit signs of irritation at the apparent leisurely unconcern of the Wright brothers regarding aspects of the matter which to the army officers seem exceedingly important, principally the relation of congress and its power to make appropriations. That body, whence flow all blessings for army and navy, will shortly dispose of the tariff question and disperse to places and interests far removed from aerial navigation.

Beginning with Brigadier General James Allen, the chief signal officer, every member of the corps wants the members of the house and senate to witness the remarkable flights made by the Wright brothers, in order that they will treat more kindly and with greater familiarity the requests for appropriations for aeronautical work. The Wrights acknowledge no other interest than to fulfill the conditions of their contract as soon as possible, but without assuming any unnecessary risks.

Wilbur Wright left for New York last night in a decidedly unmilitary manner. He failed to notify the officers stationed at the aeroplane shed that he intended to go, nor did he leave any word as to when he would be back or as to what necessitated his departure in the midst of the Fort Myer trials. While Orville is expected back from Dayton today, it seems hardly likely that there will be any more flights at Fort Myer before next week.

BAN ON THRASHING DINNERS

Farmers' Wives Revolt Against Custom of Feeding Machine Hands.

Wives of farmers of central Indiana have rebelled against the practice of making big dinners for thrashing hands, and the owners of machines that go from farm to farm thrashing wheat will have to provide dinners for their men, says an Indianapolis dispatch.

The wives of the farmers organized against the big dinner attachment on thrashing days, and when thrasher owners came around to make contracts and were informed of the women's edict many of them refused to make contracts, saying they had no way to provide dinners for the men.

All the farmers in some counties have formed thrashing companies among themselves and have agreed that every man must provide himself with dinner. The organization is spreading, and the big dinner at thrashing time is to be a thing of the past.

DR. ELIOT'S BOOK LIST.

Some Selections He Has Made For His Five Foot Library.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, ex-president of Harvard, recently made public the selection of a large part of the books which will make up the "Harvard classics" to carry out his idea of choosing from the best literature of the world a five foot shelf of books intended exclusively for English speaking people. Of this selection he says:

"It is my belief that the faithful and considerate reading of these books, with such rereadings and memorizings as individual taste may prescribe, will give any man the essentials of a liberal education even if he can devote to them only fifteen minutes a day."

The selections, so far as they have been made, are:

Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin.
"Journal of John Woodman."
"Fruits of Solitude," by William Penn.
Bacon's Essays and "The New Atlantis."
Milton's "Areopagitica" and "Tractate on Education."
Sir Thomas Browne's "Religio Medici."
Plato's Apology, "Phaedo" and "Crito."
Golden Sayings of Epictetus.
Meditations of Marcus Aurelius.
Emerson's Essays.
Emerson's "English Traits."
The Complete Poems of Milton.
Johnson's "Volpone."
Beaumont and Fletcher's "The Maid's Tragedy."
Webster's "Duchess of Malf."
Middleton's "The Changeling."
Dryden's "All For Love."
Shelley's "Cenci."
Browning's "Blot in the Scutcheon."
Tennyson's "Becket."
Goethe's "Faust."
Marlowe's "Dr. Faustus."
Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations."
Letters of Cicero and Pliny.
Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress."
Burns' "Tam o' Shanter."
Walton's "Complete Angler."
Lives of Donne and Herbert.
Autobiography of St. Augustine.
Plutarch's "Lives."
Dryden's "Æneid."
"Canterbury Tales," Chaucer.
"Imitation of Christ," Thomas a Kempis.
Dante's "Divine Comedy."
Darwin's "Origin of Species."
"Arabian Nights."

THE AEROPLANE GOWN.

Rejoice Husbands!—This Feminine Fancy Boasts Ne'er a Button.

Entirely innocent of buttons, the "aeroplane gown" is the very latest of the late creations for women.

It looks at first glance like a walking skirt, but there's a secret. It is two walking skirts, or something. This is revealed the moment the wearer takes a step, and it just keeps right on being revealed every time she moves, either to walk, stoop or sit down. It is intended for a street costume, for bowling, golfing, hunting and all manner of sports as well as for comfort in the home.

The gown opens only in the back, on the left side, and fastens closely with hooks. There is not a button on it. The "trousers" are of sufficient length to reach the ankles, but are caught up below the knee and held there by rubber bands.

Only tights are to be worn under the gown, there being no place reserved for underskirts. The width of the pantaloons is fifty-six inches. The aeroplane gown is expected to be the thing at the seashore this summer.

LOG OF JOHN PAUL JONES.

Record of the Ranger Found Among a New Hampshire Lawyer's Relics.

Quite by accident, according to a Boston dispatch, there was recently discovered among relics left by the late Erastus Perry Jewel, a Laconia (N. H.) lawyer, scholar and collector, the log of John Paul Jones' first ship, the Ranger.

The find is one of the greatest historic value. Ex-Senator Chandler has taken steps to secure it for the archives of the navy department.

The beginning of the log appears to be in the handwriting of Paul Jones himself and shows that before he went to France he made several trips to clear the northern Atlantic of British privateersmen and to do a little privateering himself. Lieutenant Elijah Hall of the Ranger in the log gives a graphic description of the Ranger.

It Is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

Indictment Charging Bribery Is Not Prossed.

"CIGARETTE" BAKER FREE MAN

Sensational Incident Which Stirred the Indiana Legislature in 1905 Had Its Final Echo in Court at Indianapolis When the Indictment Charging Oscar A. Baker With an Attempt to Bribe a Legislator Was Dismissed—Baker Disclaims All Knowledge of the Alleged Attempt at Bribery.

Indianapolis, July 7.—Oscar A. Baker of cigarette fame, is now a free man, as Prosecutor Hooton moved, in criminal court, to not-pross the indictment charging Baker with having offered a bribe of $100 to Ananias Baker, a member of the Indiana legislature, in 1905.

The prosecutor gave as his reason for wiping the case off the criminal court slate that the prosecuting witness, Ananias Baker, had died, and that on that account the state did not have sufficient evidence on which to make a conviction.

The accused, who is popularly known as Cigarette Baker, was in court, having come here from his home in Marion, Ind. He disclaimed all knowledge of the $100 which the indictment alleged he paid to Ananias Baker in order to bribe the latter to vote against the cigarette bill which was before the legislature in 1905.

"Mr. Baker, I have the $100 in my possession, and if you want to give me a receipt for it, I will gladly return it to you," said Prosecutor Hooton.

"I don't know anything about that money," Baker replied. "I never had anything to do with it."

John W. Kern, who was Baker's attorney, said in his behalf that Baker disclaimed any interest in the $100, and that as far as he was concerned the American Tobacco company had no claim to it.

"Just turn it over to some charity," said Kern. However, Judge Pritchard declined to settle the fate of the $100 bribe money, as he felt that it was possible the Ananias Baker estate might lay claim to it, and it still remains in the hands of Prosecutor Hooton, who has the five $20 bills sealed up in an envelope.

WARRANTS FOR THIRTY-ONE

Citizens Say They Thought Fish Law Was Repealed.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., July 7.—Consternation reigned at Lawrenceville when a deputy state game warden from here went there and served warrants on thirty-one citizens to appear in court on charges of violating the fish law.

A party of Lawrenceville men and boys while on an outing seized Beaver pond May 19 and, returning home, boasted of a catch of almost three pounds each. They thought the fish law had been repealed, but Prosecutor Summers holds otherwise and assures them that the $100 fine with jail sentence, is still "some law" and says that fish at $33 a pound is a near possibility. Unserved warrants are out to bring the total to more than fifty. The cases will be fought on the grounds of the law being unconstitutional.

RIOT OVER HORSE TRADE

Led to the Death of One and Wounding of Two.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 7.—In a riot at the National Stockyards here, Chief of Detectives Ryan shot and killed William James, a negro. Two white men, bystanders, S. T. Byrne of Olney, Ill., and William Rice, both received bullets in the hips, and five mules were killed.

The trouble began during a horse trade, the negro threatening to shoot a trader. City detectives went to the trader's assistance and James began firing. He took refuge in a barn and a riot call was turned in. Citizens joined the police in the shooting, which the negro returned. James was killed in the barn while hiding behind some mules.

Suicide Theory Discredited.

South Bend, Ind., July 7.—The man and woman drowned in the St. Joseph river when their boat went over the dam, were Mr. and Mrs. H. Lindeman of Chicago. The authorities at first believed the two had committed suicide, but they discredit this theory now. The bodies have not been recovered.

A New Venire Ordered.

Clinton, Ill., July 7.—But four jurors have been accepted in the Thomas Snell will case, and a new venire has been ordered. A motion by the executor to debar as a party to the suit the infant son of Harry Snell, grandson of the testator, was overruled.

Acquittal of Dr. Barstow.

Freeport, Ill., July 7.—A jury in the case of Dr. Charles P. Barstow, a former Chicago physician, accused of the murder of Miss Jeanette Reider, returned a verdict of not guilty.

FALMOUTH IN CELEBRATION

GREAT CROWD SAW EVENTS

Balloon Ascension Attracted Great
Attention and Loud
Applause.

The celebration of our glorious Fourth given by the new store in Falmouth for the entertainment of Falmouth and surrounding country was an immense success. A great crowd from all over the country witnessed the different events, especially the balloon ascension attracted great attention and loud applause. Up to this writing we have not heard of them, they must have passed over Rushville to judge by the direction they took. The pyrotechnical display was very successful and was admired and commented on by a still larger throng than in the afternoon and lated until far in the night. The Red Men had thrown open their hall for the public and the ladies who were fortunate enough to get in witnessed the fireworks from the windows.

PUPILS TO BUILD A HOUSE.

Principal of a School Near Chicago Plans "Self Government" Test.

Miss Florence Holbrook, principal of the Forrestville school, near Chicago, has a unique experiment in self government in readiness for her 1,200 pupils when they return to school after the summer vacation. Miss Holbrook laid her plan before the buildings and grounds committee of the school board the other day and asked authority to put it into effect.

The principal's plan is to erect a story and one-half brick bungalow on the school grounds at Forty-fifth street and St. Lawrence avenue, every bit of the work, from the drawing of plans to the preparation of a dinner for the house warming, to be done by the boys and girls.

The bungalow will occupy a tract about 150 by 125 feet, nearly a half of the school playground, and when completed will contain a living room and kitchen on the first floor and a combination sleeping room and nursery for imaginary children in the half story above. On an upper veranda there will be an outdoor sleeping apartment to be used possibly by children of a consumptive tendency.

The operations will start with a designing competition, the children in the two upper grades being directed to prepare plans and submit them to School Architect Dwight H. Perkins, who has consented to act as judge of the contest. The best plan having been selected, the children will tear up the brick with which the school playground is paved and use it to start the walls of the bungalow.

"I want to get away from the idea that the child to enjoy himself must be playing all the time," said Miss Holbrook. "I expect it will be about two years before the bungalow is finished. While the building is going on the girls will be at work making furniture and other things for the interior."

Secretary Wilson believes that the high price of foodstuffs is largely due to the scarcity of farm hands. If this be the correct explanation it is almost certain that prices will keep on soaring, because the yeomanry are each year becoming less and less inclined to work on the farm.

Not so many years ago farmers' boys were flooding the cities because of better opportunities of making money. At present prices of farm products the farmer who works, provided he has favorable success, can make a little money, and no one should regret the swing of the pendulum in this direction.

The federal government has gone into the job printing business, printing envelopes at a loss for large consumers, which loss is made up by the taxpayers. Some time ago it issued an order prohibiting newspapers from extending credit on subscriptions beyond a certain length of time, and it has in other ways interfered in the private business of newspaper men. What have we done to the blessed old government, anyway? — Middletown News.

That Indiana's financial interests are properly cared for is shown by a report from Washington which says that since 1900 157 new banks have been established in the State. Out of 347 institutions organized in the State under national banking laws, 253 are now in operation. In the United States there are at the present time 6,955 national banks with an authorized capital of $947,726,775 and a circulation outstanding secured by bonds in the sum of $659,673,408.

Believing that the appointment of postmasters proves a great embarrassment to the president, who is not familiar with local conditions, Representative Cullop has prepared a bill for presentation in congress providing that the two leading political parties nominate candidates for the office by primary or convention and then submit the matter to a vote of the people just as though voting for mayor or any other officer. The man receiving the highest vote would be so certified to the president for appointment.

Everywhere it seems an educational awakening is in progress. The higher institutions are in progress of improvement. As important as the colleges and universities must be acknowledged to be, the common schools are of infinitely greater importance, since they concern a much larger number of people and influence practically the whole body of the State's citizenship. The awakening has been perhaps more noticeable with respect to the universities and colleges. The one great demand now is to arouse public opinion in favor of better common schools, with longer terms, better school houses, better instruction, with the whole standard of the grammar school raised. With the foundation of our educational system upon the proper basis, the task of developing the higher institutions will be comparatively easy.

The outlook for early adjournment of the special session never looked as bright as it does just now, says a Washington dispatch. "Pass the tariff bill and adjourn" is now the slogan of all the influential lawmakers who are helping to frame that measure. The progressive senators feel that they have made their fight and that no advantage could be gained for their cause by keeping congress a day longer than necessary to wind up the business before it. The progressives have won a good many reductions—not as many as they would like to see made—but the most valuable part of their services will not develop until after the bill gets into conference. It is hoped and believed that by their attitude they have paved the way for concessions in conference that could not have been obtained in any other manner. Senator Beveridge, who hurried back from New England, expressed the opinion that the tariff bill will be reported out of the committee of the whole into the senate by the middle of this week, and that the last of the week will witness the passage through the senate.

In consequence of the "dry" wave which has swept over the country the government reports show a marked falling off in the consumption of beer and whisky and a big increase in the demand for coffee. If the demand for one is brought about by the lack of the other, it is another and very forceful illustration that the desire for stimulating drink seems to be a part of American life, and if it is not directly traceable to the inability to get intoxicants the fact that coffee importations have increased by many millions of pounds is at least significant. Many claim that coffee as a beverage is as harmful or even more so than beer and whisky, although it does not intoxicate. Whether this be true or not it is a well-known fact that physicians often forbid the use of coffee to those afflicted with nervous or heart diseases and frequently express a preference for beer over coffee or tea. In view of these facts it would not seem far remote if a crusade against the "coffee evil" should be launched and a formidable "Anti-Coffee League" should undertake to dictate party nominees.

WHERE PARENTS WERE MARRIED

In Historical Old New Jersey Church

Mrs. Anna Parsons Went to the Altar.

ON ARM OF SOUTHERN JURIST

Former Rushville Woman Weds a

Prominent and Wealthy Man of the Southland.

The following is an extended account of the wedding of Mrs. Anna Parsons, a former resident of Rushville, and a sister-in-law of Dr. C. H. Parsons of this city, which occurred in Allentown, N. J. last Wednesday instead of Atlanta, Georgia, as first stated:

"At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 30, 1909, in the historical old Presbyterian church at Allentown, N. J., where years ago her father and mother were wedded, Mrs. Anna Woolley Parsons, formerly of this city, and Judge Robert T. Daniel, of Griffin, Ga., were married in the presence of a number of personal friends, Rev. J. T. Stevenson of Philadelphia, performing the ceremony.

The day was glorious, and all nature seemed to be attuned to the general happiness of all concerned, giving bright promises of that golden future for which all the numerous friends of the bride and groom are hoping.

The bride was attired in a charming blue silk traveling gown and carried a bouquet of orchids sent by Harold Dunn, of New York. Her only attendant was Mrs. May Warthin Dunn, of New York City, a life long friend, who was handsome in a becoming toilette of the modiste's latest creation.

The groom radiant in the consciousness that he was about to enter into a relation which foretold a blissful future for himself and bride, was attended by Mr. Doughty, of Mt. Holly, N. J., a close personal friend.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party left for Philadelphia, where a wedding breakfast was served at the Bellevue-Stratford, the most aristocratic hotel in the Quaker City.

After a brief bridal tour the newly wedded pair will go to Griffin, Ga., a suburb of Atlanta, the home of Judge Daniel, where they will take up life's tangled skein surrounded by every luxury that wealth and good taste can provide, and will be at home to their friends July 15.

Judge Daniel, the groom, is one of the best known and most popular men in Georgia. He is a distinguished lawyer, a capitalist of large means, and is identified with the great business interests of the State, being the owner of extensive lands and a number of large cotton mills in and around Atlanta. He has a national reputation as an orator, and as a speaker at the national meeting of the Odd Fellows is personally known to thousands of members of that order. "The Greensburg Review has the following to say of the bride:

As for Mrs. Parsons, even a word about her in a newspaper printed in this community will seem superfluous. She grew to womanhood in Greensburg, and those who know her best friends and most ardent admirers. Gifted in many womanly graces, a lady of culture and refinement, she will prove an ornament in the home of the distinguished Southerner, and he is to be congratulated upon securing for a life companion a woman so well fitted by nature and training for the responsibilities of wifehood.

There is a tinge of romance about the meeting and wedding of Judge Daniel and Mrs. Parsons. They met through the good offices of Mrs. May Warthin Dunn, their mutual friend, and that the meeting has ripened into an undying affection is a matter of great pleasure and satisfaction to her.

A CONTEST FOR LOCAL AUTHORS

Owing to the public spiritedness and liberality of a civic organization in this city we are enabled to announce for the benefit of the readers of this paper a free contest, the condition of which are as follows:

1. Manuscripts on the subject of "Some Practical Suggestions for the Improvement of Rushville" may be submitted at this office up until 6:00 p. m. on the first day of August, 1909. The manuscripts should be legibly written or typewritten on good white paper and should not exceed 1500 words in length.

2. The manuscript should be enclosed in a large envelope addressed to this paper. It should not be signed, but a separate name slip should be enclosed, giving the name of the author, his or her exact post-office address and if under twenty-one years, the age of the writer.

3. The manuscripts will be submitted after August 1st, and until August 6th, to the directors of the Rushville Improvement Association, whose names are as follows, Dr. Frank H. Green, Roy H. Jones, Will M. Bliss, Wm. E. Havens and Leonidas Link, who will award the prizes.

4. The papers submitted should be practical and the practical quality of the suggestions made will be given more weight than literary merit, although both qualities will be considered. The judges above named will decide all controverted questions and their decision will be final in all matters.

5. The first prize will be ten dollars in gold; second prize, two season tickets to the Rushville Chautauqua in session August 6-15, 1909; third prize, one season ticket to the Rushville Chautauqua, in session August 6-15, 1909. Announcement of the winners of these prizes will be made from the platform at the opening session of the Chautauqua on the night of August 6th, before the beginning of the program and the announcement will be made by Lincoln Guffin, president of the board of directors. Announcement will also be made in the columns of this paper and the three successful manuscripts will be published exclusively in the Daily Republican.

It is hoped that merchants and their families will be especially active in this contest as it is one which relates to the growth of the business and material interests of our city, and of all persons they should be most keenly alive to the commercial improvement of Rushville.

High school students are also urged to compete for the prizes as any bright young person who tries hard has a good chance of winning.

HAD ATTACKED JUDGE SPARKS

Resignation of Superintendent Whittaker Source of Solace to Friends of Officials.

WERE UNJUSTLY CRITICIZED

When Young Lad Sent up For Burglarly Committed Suicide in the Reformatory.

It would be calumnious to charge Judge Sparks and ex-Prosecutor Hack and their host of friends with malevolence, says the Shelbyville News, but there is a feeling of vindication in the morsel of the Whittaker-Barnard Reformatory episode. In May, 1908, when Frank Stillwell, a sixteen-year-old convict from Shelbyville committed suicide in the Reformatory, Whittaker censured Judge Sparks and Prosecutor Hack severely for having sent the boy to the institution. Whittaker's reproach was unwarranted.

Stillwell was an egregious youth, who, for months, had been under police surveillance. He was arrested for house-breaking, plead guilty and was sentenced for ten years. A few months in the penal institution, where charges ranging from mistreatment of prisoners to the acceptance of money and jewelry from firms having contracts with the State are now at issue, led to suicide.

Whittaker attached the blame to Judge Sparks and Prosecutor Hack, asserting the lad should never have been sent to the institution. Friends of the two were rightly indignant and for a time it seemed Whittaker would be given an opportunity to explain.

Whittaker resigned under fire and with the words fresh on his lips he had acted with propriety in all matters. Friends of the local men chided by Whittaker profess to see vindication in the incidents of the past few days.

Some Talky Dope With The Riverside Horses

The continued rain of the past several days has put training on the blink. About the most exercise given the horses is making them "get over" in the stalls.

Gordon Prince Jr. seems to be the big noise at Riverside.

Henry Vandyke, colored, does not wear a vandyke, neither is he a Democrat, but he is pretty mushy over Billy Bryan, a promising bit of horseflesh in the Jones stable.

There are a "couple of good things" in training at Riverside that ought to even tempt the beech-tree bank roll boys to get away from the county seat for a few weeks this summer. With a good heart and a greenback taw, they could come back home and make some business for the bookkeepers in the three per cent department of the local banks.

One of the local money kings is getting to be one of the regular early rail birds. As yet he has not "changed in" and bought a split seconds, but times them almost correct by the court house clock. You know that's cheaper. He threatens to unbuckle and get a lot of money and follow the hoeses this year, but—

J. C. Sipe, the diamond expert and jeweler of Indianapolis, was down last week to watch Harrie Jones work two high bred colts, a two-year-old by Sidney Dillon and a high class pacer by McKinney.

In fact, with but five weeks work, has shown a mile in 2:22½.

Laura Jones is working fine this year and has all the prospects of a high class trotter. The entire Jones stable looks good—far better than any bunch he ever rounded up before—and when they turn for the money they will be ready to race, for they have all had consistent training.

Looks like Clell Maple will make quite a pacer out of Frances Sexton. She went a mile in 2:16. Last week Clell stepped her a mile in 2:20½, showing she was there with the former steam. He sent her the last half in 8.

Jerome Sampson's mare looks like a sure 2:05 pacer. She is a sweet gaited girl and likes the route.

AEROPLANE SEEN HERE LAST NIGHT

Wright Brothers Successful Flights Near Paris Reproduced at the Vaudet Theater.

MAY BE BROUGHT BACK SOON

One of the most interesting and educational films of this year was shown at the Vaudet last night, but because the management simply announced "Wilbur Wright's Aeroplane," a comparatively few people realized the importance of this picture. The film was nothing less than an actual moving picture photograph of the trial flights and demonstration of the Wright brothers in France, and the film was produced by the Pathe brothers, the largest and best equipped moving picture house in the world.

Vincent Young has a promising Patchen Boy filly. She is a young thing and has got behind a mile around 2:35 this season. Last year she showed great speed, too.

Scott Brannum is sure there with a couple of real trotters. He worked Grace Hearth a couple of tidy miles last Friday; one in 16¼, the last half in 6. He worked her another mile back in 17¼, last half in 7. The colored trainer worked the three-year-old trotter Pasttime a mile in 2:20 last Friday.

Jap Nebro worked Billy Brown's two-year-old Sidney Dillon a mile in 2:33 last Friday. He acts like a high class colt. All of Jap's stuff is working good.

Horrie Brooks has quite a few promising green ones at Riverside.

Mike Kelly is a hard worker and always manages to get his stuff looking fine and going smooth.

Dusty Miller, "The Clocker" who owns Charles Hyatt, is always there with an "Ingersoll" getting inside "info" on the quarters.

It surely must be difficult to find a blacksmith in Rushville—or least very many of them—when fast heats are the order of the day at Riverside. They are the most consistent attendants at the race course.

Ginger Hill, who used to do 150 pounds, and was as good a boy as ever got into an exercise cart, is now driving a chariot and doing chores for W. A. Jones. He is carrying weight for age, weighing in at 290 after bath. Oh, you Ginger!

Lee Shy has sure got a nice place around the dining car; looks mighty clean and nice. Yes sir! The boys who grab their eats under his cuisine service unexcelled, sing praises to Lee—Hi Lee, Hi Lo—and say he is there as many ways as Heinz's make pickles.

George Weeks is working his horses at the Posey Stock Farm, getting them in shape for the two lap tracks. Weeks' stuff is going fine and will be heard from when the news comes in on the pink sheets. Charley Frazee's Patchen Boy, "Alec Williams" is going better than ever before—and that's going some.

The series of pictures shown gave one an opportunity to see the evolutions of the flying machine in all its phases, much better than if one had been actually on the ground, because it would have been impossible to have been at all the different points at the same time, while the picture machines were stationed at all the various points of vantage, to catch every move.

Because so few people saw this rare and interesting film, several enthusiasts have prevailed upon the management of the Vaudet to show this picture again some time next week, to give all our people an opportunity to see a real aeroplane in actual flight.

DAILY DEMOCRAT CHANGES HANDS

Local Publication is Taken Over by Will L. Newbold and George Puntenney, Jr.

STOCK COMPANY IS NO MORE

New Proprietors Happily Matched and Ought to Make the Concern a Go.

The Rush County Publishing Co., publishers of the Rushville Daily and Weekly Democrat today changed hands, the stock company selling the plant to Will L. Newbold and George Puntenney, Jr. They took possession at once.

Mr. Newbold has been in the law business in Rushville for a number of years, and is a good, clean and capable citizen and ought to make a first class newspaper man. He served as Democratic county chairman for two terms and was deputy prosecutor for two years.

George Puntenney, Jr., is the son of George Puntenney, Sr., the veteran editor of the old Jacksonian. He has been connected with the Daily Democrat for several months in the capacity of city editor, since he left the Monmouth (Ill.) college. Young George is a bright and promising new light in the local newspaper world and has many staunch friends in this city.

The new pair is happily matched and ought to make a go of it in the newspaper business—something a stock company can hardly ever do.

SOCIETY NEWS

John A. Widau, a prominent farmer and stock dealer of Washington township, and his bride, formerly a Mrs. Weyl of Richmond, came to the groom's home on his farm near Mays from a wedding trip to the Lakes Sunday evening about eight o'clock. CHAPTER II.

AN EXTRAORDINARY DOCUMENT.

It appears that the Messrs. Skaggs and Wyckholme as their dual career drew to a close set about to learn what had become of their daughters. Investigation proved that Wyckholme's daughter had married a London artist named Ruthven. The Ruthvens in turn had one child, a daughter. Wyckholme's wife and his daughter died when this grandchild was eight or ten years old. By last report the grandchild was living with her father in London. She was a pretty young woman, with scores of admirers on her hands and a very level head on her shoulders.

Wyckholme held to his agreement with Skaggs by bequeathing his share of the property to him, but it was definitely set forth that at the death of his partner it was to go to Agnes Ruthven, the grandchild—with reservations.

Skaggs found that his daughter, who married Browne, the American, likewise had died, but that she had left behind a son and heir. This son, Robert Browne, was in school when the joint will was designed, and he was to have Skaggs' fortune at the death of Wyckholme in case that worthy survived.

In order to keep the business and the property intact and under the perpetual control of one partnership the granddaughter of Wyckholme was to marry the grandson of Skaggs within the year after the death of the surviving partner. The penalty to be imposed upon them if the conditions were not complied with, neither to be excusable for the defection of the other, lay in the provision that the whole industry and its accumulated fortune, including the land (and they owned practically the entire island), were to go to the islanders. Wyckholme named Sir John Allencrombie as one executor, and Skaggs selected Alfred Bowen of Boston as the other.

As Wyckholme was the first to die, Skaggs became sole owner of the island and its treasures, and it was he who made the final will in accordance with the original plans.

The island of Japat, with its jewels and its ancient chateau, of modern construction, represented several million pounds sterling. Wyckholme's dream of erecting an exact replica of a famous old chateau found response in the equally whimsical Skaggs, who constantly bemoaned the fact that it was impossible to spend money. For five years after its completion the two old men, with an army of Arabian retainers and Nubian slaves, lived like oriental potentates in the huge structure on the highlands overlooking the sea.

Skaggs seldom went from one part of his home to another without a guide. It was so vast and so labyrinthine that he feared he might become lost forever. The dungeon below the chateau and the moat with its bridges were the especial delight of these lonely, romantic old chaps. One of the builders of this rare pile was now sleeping peacefully in the sarcophagus beneath the chapel; the other was lying dead and undiscovered in the very heart of his possessions.

The magnificent plans of the partners would have been a glorious tribute to romance had it not been for one fatal obstacle. The trouble was that young Miss Ruthven and young Mr. Browne did not know that their grandfathers lived, much less that they owned an island in the south seas. Therefore it is quite natural that they could not have known they were expected to marry each other.

Miss Ruthven, from motives peculiar to the head and not to the heart, set about to earn a title for herself. Three months before the death of Mr. Skaggs she was married to Lord Deppingham, who possessed a title and a country place that rightfully belonged to his creditors. Mr. Browne, just out of college, hung out his shingle as a physician and surgeon and forthwith, with all the confidence his profession is supposed to inspire, proceeded to marry the daughter of a brokerage banker in Boston and at once found himself struggling with the difficulties of Back Bay society.

A clause in the will, letter of instruction attached, demanded that the two grandchildren should take up their residence in the chateau within six months after the death of the testator, there to remain through the compulsory days of courtship, up to and including the wedding day. Four months had already passed. It was also stipulated that the executors should receive £10,000 each at the expiration of their year of servitude, provided it was shown in court that they had carried out the wishes of the testator or in failing had made the most diligent effort within human power.

"It is very explicit," murmured Mr. Hare for the third time. "I suppose the first step is to notify young Mr. Browne of his misfortune. His lordship has the task of breaking the news to Lady Deppingham."

"You are assuming that I intend to act under this ridiculous will."

"Certainly. It means about $50,000 to you at the end of the year, with nothing to do but to notify two persons of the terms in the will. If they're not divorced and married again at the end of the year you and Sir John simply turn everything over to the Malays, or whatever they are. I think it's easy sledding for you."

Young Mr. Browne hastened downtown in response to a message from the American executor and was told of the will which had been filed in England, the home land of the testator. To say that this debonaire, good looking young gentleman was flabbergasted would be putting it more than mildly.

"What shall I do—what can I do, Mr. Bowen?" he gasped bewildered.

"Consult an attorney," advised Mr. Bowen promptly.

"I'll do it!" shouted Bobby Browne, one time halfback on his college eleven. "Break the will for me, Mr. Bowen, and I'll give!"

"I can't break it, Bobby. I'm its executor."

"Good Lord! Well, then, who is the best will breaker you know, please? Something has to be done right away."

"I'm afraid you don't grasp the situation. Now, if you were not married it would—"

"I wouldn't give up my wife for all the islands in the universe. That's settled. You don't know how happy we are. She's the—"

"Yes, yes, I know," interrupted the wily Mr. Bowen. "Don't tell me about it. Go and see Judge Garrett, over in the K. building. They say he expects to come back from the grave to break his own will."

Ten minutes later an excited young man rushed into an office in the K. building.

"You will have to fight it jointly," said Judge Garrett after extracting the wheat from the chaff of Browne's remarks. "You can't take hers away

"It's as sound as the rock of Gibraltar," from her, and she can't get yours. We must combine against the natives. Come back tomorrow at 2."

Promptly at 2 Browne appeared, eager eyed and nervous. He had left behind him at home a miserable young woman with red eyes and choking breath who bemoaned the cruel conviction that she stood between him and fortune.

"But, hang it all, dearest, I wouldn't marry that girl if I had the chance. I'd marry you all over again today if I could," he had cried out to her, but she wondered all afternoon if he really meant it. It never entered her head to wonder if Lady Deppingham was old or young, pretty or ugly, bright or dull.

Judge Garrett had a copy of the will in his hand. He looked dubious, even dismayed.

"It's as sound as the rock of Gibraltar," he announced dolefully. "You don't mean it!" gasped poor Bobby, mopping his fine Harvard brow, his six feet of manhood shrinking perceptibly as he looked about for a chair in which to collapse. "Can't it be smashed?"

"It might be an easy matter to prove either of these old gentlemen to have been insane, but the two of them together make it out of the question."

"Darned unreasonable!"

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That no Rushville Citizen Can Afford to Ignore

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys secrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Rushville proof:

Mrs. M. T. Lewark, 1023 North Perkins street, Rushville, Ind., says:

"I felt miserable for some time and the kidney secretions caused me great annoyance by their irregularity in passage. In the morning I felt very tired and I had little strength or energy. Deciding to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I obtained a box from F. B. Johnson & Co's drug store. They have brought me great benefit, removing the lameness in my back and strengthening my kidneys. I think highly of this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"What do you mean, sir?" indignantly.

"I mean—oh, you know what I mean—the conditions and all that. Why, the old chumps must have been trying to prove their grandchildren insane when they made that will. Nobody but imbeciles would marry people they'd never seen. I—"

"But the will provides for a six months' courtship, Mr. Browne. I'm sorry to say. You might learn to love a person in less time and still retain your mental balance, you know, especially if she were pretty and an heiress to half your own fortune. I dare say that is what they were thinking about."

"Thinking? They weren't thinking of anything at all. They weren't capable. Why didn't they consider the possibility that things might turn out just as they have?"

"Possibly they did consider it, my boy. It looks to me as if they did not care a rap whether it went to their blood relatives or to the islanders. I fancy of the two they loved the islanders more. At any rate, they left a beautiful opening for the very complications which now conspire to give the natives their own after all. It's necessary for both of you to be on the ground according to schedule. You must go to the island, wife or no wife, and there's not much time to be lost. Lady Deppingham won't let the grass grow under her feet if I know anything about the needs of English nobility, and I'll bet my hat she's packing her trunks now for a long stay in Japan. You have farther to go than she, but you must get over there inside of sixty days. You can't tell what may happen in the next six months."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, it's possible that you may become a widower and she a widow."

"Good heaven, Judge Garrett! Impossible!" gasped Bobby Browne, clutching the arms of his chair.

"Nothing is impossible, my boy."

"Well, if that's what you're counting on you can count me out. I won't speculate on my wife's death."

"But, man, suppose that it did happen!" roared the judge nasally. "You should be prepared for the best—I mean the worst. Don't look like a sick dog. You go to the island at once. Take your wife along if you like. You'll find her ladyship there, and she'll need a woman to tell her troubles to. I don't think we'll have any trouble getting the British heirs to join in the suit to overthrow the will. The only point is this—the islanders must not have the advantage that your absence from Japan will give to them. Now, I'll—"

"But I don't like the suggestion that my wife will be obliged to die in order—"

"Please leave all the details to me, Mr. Browne. It may not be necessary for her to die. There are other alternatives in law. Give the lawyers a chance. All you have to do is to plant yourself on that island and stay there until we tell you to get off."

"Or the islanders push me off," lugubriously.

Young Mr. Browne went away at dusk, half reeling under the responsibility of existence, and eventually reached the side of the anxious young woman uptown. He bared the facts and awaited the wall of dismay.

"I think it will be perfectly jolly!" she cried instead and kissed him rapturously.

Over the opposite side of the Atlantic the excitement in certain circles was even more intense than that produced in Boston. Lord Deppingham needed the money, but he was a whole day in grasping the fact that his wife could not have it and him at the same time. The beautiful and fashionable Lady Deppingham, once little Agnes Ruthven, came as near to having hysteria as Englishwomen ever do, but she called in a lawyer instead of a doctor. For three days she neglected her social duties (and they were many), ignored her gallant admirers (and they were many) and hurried back and forth between home and chambers so vigorously that his lordship was seldom closer than a day behind in anything she did.

There was a great rattling of trunks, a jangling of keys, a thousand good-bys, a castoff season, and the Deppinghams were racing away for the island of Japat, somewhere in the far south seas.

To be Continued.

Summer Hair Dressing.

The disagreeable and repulsive odors that come from the hair in summer are caused by dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by microbes which are hard to kill, but which can be killed by Parisian Sage, the quick acting, money-back hair tonic.

Dandruff can never be cured until the small, aggravating and indomitable dandruff germ is conquered and destroyed, thanks to the great scientists and dermatologist who gave to the world Parisian Sage, the only real dandruff cure and hair grower the world has ever known.

If you have dandruff, Parisian Sage will cure you in two weeks, or your money back.

But besides, riding the scalp of dandruff, Parisian Sage is guaranteed to stop falling hair and itching of the scalp. It keeps the scalp cool and clean in summer. It is a prime favorite with women of refinement. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and beautiful in a week, and is not sticky or greasy.

A large bottle for 50 cents at F. B. Johnson & Co. who guarantees it. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

ENDEAVORS IN BIG CONVENTION

Twenty-five Thousand Meeting In St. Paul.

LEADING MEN WILL SPEAK

William J. Bryan, Governor Johnson, George Nicholls, Member of Parliament; Dr. Clark, Founder of the Movement, and Others on the Program—More Than Three Million Religious Workers Represented in Assemblage.

St. Paul, July 7.—One of the greatest gatherings of religious folk ever gathered in the United States, and by far the largest convention in the history of the Christian Endeavor movement is the convention of Endeavorers which began in this city today. Every state and territory of the Union and many foreign countries are represented among the 25,000 visitors to St. Paul. The city is filled to overflowing with the delegates to the convention and other visitors, and those who failed to secure accommodations in advance are housed in a tent city, near the new capitol. The convention will last until July 12.

On the program are representatives from Mexico, Alaska, China, Japan, Wales, England, Germany and many other foreign countries, while Canada, from far St. John's to northernmost Saskatchewan and western British Columbia, is represented by hundreds of delegates. The membership of the society represented at the convention now exceeds 3,500,000.

Prominent Men to Speak.

The program is the strongest ever presented at an International Christian Endeavor convention. Among the leading speakers are the Rev. Francis E. Clark, father of the Christian Endeavor movement; the Hon. William J. Bryan, Governor John A. Johnson, Senator Beveridge of Indiana, the Hon. George Nicholls, member of parliament, London, who came from England to attend the convention, as well as many leading pastors and missionaries from all parts of the world. Practically every prominent person connected with the society is in St. Paul.

There will be a monster parade and great patriotic service at the capitol as one feature of the convention. The educational exhibit of progress along civic, social and religious lines, with lectures by experts, is one of the most valuable features. This is held in the Armory, the second largest hall in the city. The central meetings of the convention will be held in the new Auditorium, seating over 10,000.

Some of the Convention Features.

Some of the spectacular features of the convention are quite out of the ordinary. Twenty thousand Endeavorers will join at one time in a trolley ride to principal parks and points of interest. The same number will join in an evening song service on the steps of the new state capitol. A chorus of 700 trained voices will lead all the singing and will be directed by the most famous Endeavor chorus leaders in the world. There will be an international campfire, with speakers from every country in the world where Christian missions have made progress.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

Seattle Entertaining Thousands of Young Methodists This Week.

Seattle, July 7.—Thousands of delegates, representing the largest denominational society of young people in the world, have assembled here for the national conference of the Epworth league of the Methodist Episcopal church, which will begin this evening and will last until July 12.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which has drawn the young folks and their leaders here this year, has made special arrangements to entertain them. In addition, there will be excursions into the surrounding country, mountain climbs, public meetings and song services, etc. Among the last named will be the singing of the oratorio "Elijah" this evening by a chorus of 500 voices.

The president of the league is Bishop W. A. Quayle of Oklahoma, who will preside over the general sessions of the conference and who will reply next Monday evening to the addresses of welcome to be delivered this evening.

Indiana Lawyers Meet.

Indianapolis, July 7.—The annual meeting of the State Bar association began with a morning session today at the Country club. It is the thirteenth annual meeting of the association and will come to a close tomorrow night with a banquet spread at the Country club. The association includes in its membership some of the best-known attorneys in the state.

Tucker Married His Nurse.

Detroit, Mich., July 7.—Colonel William F. Tucker, U. S. A., retired, who was recently divorced in Chicago, was married here to Mrs. Myrtle Platt, who became Colonel Tucker's nurse in the Philippines, when the colonel's health broke down and he was sent home to the United States.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Charles Francis Barker, for many years the world's checker champion, is dead at Boston.

Billy Papke has signed articles for a ten-round match with Jim Flynn of Colorado, at Los Angeles, July 17.

Fire destroyed the plant of the Cambria Forge company of Johnstown, Pa., entailing a loss estimated at $70,000.

Edward Payson Weston, the ocean-to-ocean pedestrian, arrived in Reno, 244 miles from San Francisco, this morning.

Alarming flood conditions are reported both northeast and northwest of Chillicothe, Mo., on the forks of the Grand river.

George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States, will address the Kentucky State Bar association at Paducah tonight.

The Indiana State Republican Editorial association will hold its annual midsummer outing at South Bend and Benton Harbor, July 23-31.

Some protests are being voiced by the London newspapers and in parliament against what is characterized as unwarrantable interference by Great Britain and Russia in Persian domestic affairs.

In a petition charging her husband with extreme cruelty toward her, Congressman James M. Cox of the Third Ohio congressional district, has been made defendant in a divorce suit filed by his wife.

Asserting that the workrooms were not sufficiently ventilated, fifty weavers employed in the Meridian (Miss.) cotton mills walked out when the management refused a request that the windows be kept open.

In a general fight at a platform dance at Foley, W. Va., John Justice of Ashland, Ky., was shot and killed and William Crispin probably fatally wounded. Two other men were struck by bullets. More than one hundred shots were fired.

Wheat prices broke sharply on the Chicago board of trade as a result of general selling prompted by greatly increased receipts of new wheat at southwestern grain centers, and by glowing reports regarding the condition of the new crop.

MAY BLOCK PANAMA LIBEL SUIT QUERY

Mr. Wise Gets Little Encouragement In France.

Paris, July 7.—Henry A. Wise, United States district attorney at New York, and Stuart McNamara, assistant United States attorney for the District of Columbia, who were sent here as a special commission to obtain testimony in the Panama libel cases, have reached Paris, but can do nothing until the arrival of Delancy Nicoll and John D. Lindsay, counsel for the Press Publishing company, publishers of the New York World.

The prospects of the commission's obtaining much information are anything but bright, as the path is blocked by numerous obstacles. The consent of the French government, which is not based upon treaty stipulations, but is merely an act of courtesy, has not yet been obtained, the government having replied to the American embassy's communication that the list of witnesses and the questions to be asked must first be submitted to the minister of justice, who shall decide whether it will be possible to comply with the request. The position of the French government is extremely delicate. The old Panama canal scandal, which wrecked so many fortunes and reputations and brought the country almost to the verge of a revolution is now legally closed, and no matter how willing the government might be to accede to the American request, it would probably hesitate if such action involved the slightest risk of re-opening the old question.

Even should a favorable response be given, the French and not the American procedure would doubtless be followed. Judge Ditté, president of the tribunal of the first instance of the Seine, would nominate a judge before whom the witnesses must appear to answer questions previously drawn up. No cross-examination or new line of evidence is possible under the French system in such cases. Moreover, neither the attendance of witnesses, nor their giving of testimony is compulsory. Witnesses would simply be cited to appear by a bailiff and could refuse to answer on the flimsiest pretext without penalty. The question of documents and papers which the defendants' attorneys desire to examine presents even greater difficulties, as subpoenas, such as are issued in the United States, are unknown in France.

Killed His Cousin at a Wake.

Muskogee, Okla., July 7.—While keeping vigil over the body of John Manus near Welling, George Gritts, Jr., shot and killed John Gritts, his cousin. The Gritts are Cherokee Indians, prominent in their tribe.

Costly Blaze in Oil.

Martinsville, Ill., July 7.—Lightning struck one of the 35,000 barrel oil tanks belonging to the Ohio Oil company, near here. The tank was fired and the loss will be $25,000, possibly more.

The Want Advertisements Are "Humanizing"

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal service. Truly, the Daily Republican Want Ads are "humanizing" people—shaming away the scorn of small things, the scorn of "bar-gaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.

AMUSEMENTS

"Caught on the Cliffs" and "Objections Overcome" are the titles of the subjects to be shown at the Star-Grand theater tonight. Both pictures are dramatic, full of human interest and pathos. Miss Iva Brown is not able to sing on account of illness and Miss Norma Smith will sing "Little Sunshine."

The bill offered at the Vaudeville tonight includes the two subjects, "Panther Hunting in the Isle of Java," and "How Jones Paid His Debts." The first picture is intensely interesting and includes much beautiful scenery. The second subject is a comic hand-colored picture. Miss Liddle will sing "When I am Away From You."

Complete change of program at the Palace tonight.

WELL, WHAT THEN?

Jim Pea, who shot at his half-brother, Charley Bell, Sunday, said today to a Republican man that the affray did not start over a girl. No other reason was given.

JUDGE HENLEY STILL GOING UP

Steel Corporation, and E. J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel company, are two names luminous in the world of finance appearing in the list of the directors of the American Trust bank.

E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; Theodore F. Shonts, president of the Clover Leaf system; W. H. McDoel, president of the "Monon road," and William J. Henley, president of the Western Indiana railroad, also directors, are stars of magnitude in the realm of American railroading.

Edwin A. Potter, president of the American Trust and Savings bank, and George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National bank, have both been invited to the portfolio of Secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Taft, which both declined. Frank H. Jones, secretary of the American Trust bank, was assistant postmaster general under the administration of the late Grover Cleveland.

Joy Morton, president of the Great Western Cereal company, a brother of Paul Morton and one of the leading financiers in the country, and T. P. Phillips, formerly president of the Federal Trust and Savings bank, which was absorbed by the American Trust, are two directors of the bank possessing immense power locally and in the field of national finance.

The breadth of power and extent of the influence which the merged boards of directors are capable of enlisting in any cause is difficult to estimate, the range extending as it does from the timber lands of the far Northwest to the Gulf of Mexico and the New England States.

In addition to those already mentioned, there is a cluster of influential men serving on the directorate of the American Trust bank. Charles H. Thorne, John F. Harris, Alfred H. Mulliken, William Kent, James O. Heyworth and Gilbert B. Shaw are all well known in the financial and commercial centers of the nation.

It is the great influence and power that a bank formed by a consolidation or coalition of two big institutions like the Continental and the American Trust banks must have, that makes the announcement of the merger so important.

This importance is not a matter alone for Chicago, but for the entire Middle West, as by it a bank prepared to administer financially to the smaller centers of the West is presented."
